Are you interested in research?

The Luxembourg National Research Fund (FNR) is the main funder of research activities in Luxembourg. We invest public funds and private donations into research projects in various branches of science and the humanities. We also support and coordinate activities to strengthen the link between science and society and to raise awareness of research.

The FNR seeks to recruit for an immediate opening a:

SCIENCE PROGRAMME MANAGER (m/f)

with a strong interest in Research, Science communication and public outreach, and Science Policy.

The position is on a permanent full time contract (CDI).

YOUR FUNCTION

You will become part of the team managing the FNR research, communication and public outreach programmes, and will be in charge of organising and monitoring activities within these programmes, as well as promoting them to the research community. The position demands a high level of interaction with team members, the research community and other stakeholders.

YOUR PROFILE:

- You hold a PhD and are passionate about science, science communication and research policy.
- You have an affinity and understanding of R&D management (basic or applied research projects) and public outreach in general;
- Knowledge of the Luxembourg public and private research landscape is considered an advantage;
- You have a sense of initiative, responsibility, organisation and have excellent communication skills;
- You are fully proficient in English and have a very good knowledge of either German or French. Luxembourgish is considered an advantage.

OUR OFFER:

- The opportunity to provide valuable impact on research and the scientific community in Luxembourg;
- The possibility to work at the heart of Luxembourg’s young and dynamic research ecosystem and to network with a variety of stakeholders;
- A permanent employment contract;
- A compensation commensurate with your experience;
- A high level of autonomy and flexible working hours;
- Career development opportunities.
